Report:

The guest session was organized by Ms. Sejal Chopra. Guest Session on 'Network Threats' was held on the 11th of October, 2022 from 3:00 pm to 4:00 pm in CR-3. The primary purpose of this session was to provide students with the fundamental knowledge of the various threats in networking. The session was held exclusively for the third-year students of the computer engineering department as content beyond syllabus activity.

Mr. Prasad Padalkar (Assistant Professor, IT Dept., DBIT) conducted the session. Throughout the session he made sure all the students got a clear understanding of what he was teaching. He commenced the session by explaining the terms like threats, vulnerability and risks through a simple example of pot hole. Then he explained all the threats appearing at each level of network layers with example relevant in various industries.

Towards the end of the session there was a Q&A session, wherein all the doubts and queries put forth by the students were clarified. Lastly the participants were requested to fill the feedback form which was circulated on the WhatsApp group to ensure that the session was helpful marking the end of the guest session.

A total of 49 students attended the session.
