Minutes :

1. Mr. Akash Garule began the competition by addressing the 16 participants from SE Computers. The main aim of this competition was to select members for the ADT team for the current academic year.
2. The competition comprised of 6 questions - with difficulty ranging from easy to medium for selection process.
3. The scoring was based on percentile with focus being on solving as many questions as possible.
4. To ensure transparency, the volunteers were entrusted with checking code authenticity, help clarify doubts of syntax errors and report successfully solved questions via google sheets.
5. At the end of the competition, based on performance, 2 successfully compiled solutions was set as the benchmark for selection.

6. Mr. Prayuj Pillai and Mr. Afi Irfan Adhikari won the competition, solving all 6 questions. A bonus round consisting of 2 questions was then conducted for them.
7. Mr. Akash Garule also conducted a verbal session at the end of the competition, informing the participants about various online coding platforms and text editors available for practise to improve their speed and reduce common syntax errors.
8. The participants were given a feedback form in order to understand the problems faced by them as well as any valuable suggestions for improvements. Few participants suggested that similar workshops should be conducted in the future.

Conclusion:

1. The competition was organised successfully.
2. 9 students were selected for the interview rounds out of which 4 students were incorporated into the current ADT Team.
3. The participants exceeded the expectations of the organisers and the organisers expressed their desire to conduct similar workshops in the future.
